Mr. Zaffino said: "Since joining AIG almost five years ago, Rose Marie has added tremendous value in her role as a Deputy General Counsel and the Corporate Secretary to the company and its Board of Directors. As we continue to build momentum on our journey to become a top performing company, it is critical that we invest in a diverse team with the expertise to tackle complex matters. Rose Marie is a consummate team player and proven leader, and her deep knowledge of the company and our culture make her ideally suited to lead our global Human Resources team during this pivotal time. I look forward to continue working closely with Rose Marie as we build on our achievements and keep shaping AIG into a global industry leader."

Ms. Glazer said: "At the heart of AIG's significant turnaround has been its people, and their steadfast dedication to excellence in all that we do. I have been honored to work with many remarkable colleagues from around the world and am grateful to Peter for giving me this opportunity and for the confidence he has placed in me to lead our global Human Resources strategy. As we look to the future, a significant priority will be to ensure AIG remains an attractive, inclusive destination for cultivating the best talent, and an organization that leads by example as an ally that values, supports and embraces our colleagues and global communities."

Ms. Glazer has served as Deputy General Counsel and Corporate Secretary at AIG since March 2017, a role in which she has led the securities, capital markets, mergers and acquisitions, corporate governance, real estate, and intellectual property legal teams as well as the Sustainability Office for AIG. She will continue to serve as Chair of the AIG Foundation and oversee AIG's Global Citizenship Team and will remain AIG's Corporate Secretary until a successor is named. Before joining AIG, Ms. Glazer served in multiple leadership roles in the legal affairs team at Siemens AG, including as Senior Vice President and General Counsel – Americas from 2011 to 2017. Prior to her 14-year career at Siemens, Rose Marie was Vice President and General Counsel at Telvista and held in-house counsel positions at Allied Riser Communications and American Airlines. She began her legal career as an attorney with the law firm Jones Day in Dallas. She earned her law degree, cum laude, from Southern Methodist University School of Law. She also earned her B.B.A. in accounting, summa cum laude, and B.A. in Spanish, summa cum laude, from Southern Methodist University.
