AIG RELEASES 2013 CORPORATE CITIZENSHIP REPORT

NEW YORK, August 26, 2014 – American International Group, Inc. (NYSE: AIG) today announced the release of its 2013 Corporate Citizenship Report, which showcases the company’s governance, environmental, and social performance, as well as its commitment to long-term sustainability.

In the report’s opening letter, Robert H. Benmosche, AIG President and Chief Executive Officer, wrote, “Having a positive influence on our customers and in the communities where we reside is vital to AIG, and is one of the major reasons our company has always made corporate citizenship such a significant priority.” Benmosche concluded his letter by reiterating that being a responsible company is core to AIG’s mission “to help people and businesses around the world prepare for the future, recover from loss, and retire with confidence.”

The report covers eight focus areas and details how these corporate responsibility initiatives are creating value for AIG, its customers, business partners, employees, and shareholders as they contribute to the growth of sustainable, prosperous communities. Additionally, the report features an overview of AIG’s Corporate Social Responsibility activities in the Asia Pacific, Europe, Middle East, Africa, Latin America and the Caribbean regions.

Highlights from the report include:

- A sustainable investment strategy - integrating environmental, social, and governmental analysis into the company’s investment process.
- Environmental responsibility - leading the insurance industry in analyzing climate change risks and impacts, as well as providing mitigation solutions.
- Entrepreneurship and empowerment - continuing to deliver financial services to the world’s working poor through microinsurance.
- Diversity and inclusion - recognizing that companies with diverse employees, clients, brokers, agents and suppliers are better positioned to develop creative solutions to complex business challenges.
- Corporate giving - striving to make a difference in the communities where AIG has a business presence by partnering with charitable organizations in three primary areas: safety, security, and disaster relief.

The report is available electronically via web (for Safari, Chrome and IE9 and above users) and PDF formats. The report is also accessible as a downloadable app for iPad and Android tablets. Visit www.aig.com/citizenship to access the report.
