Ms. Krass will report to Peter Zaffino, Chief Executive Officer, General Insurance, and Lucy Fato, Executive Vice President and General Counsel, AIG. In this role, Ms. Krass will oversee the General Insurance global legal department and serve as a member of the Executive Leadership Team for that business unit.

Mr. Zaffino said: “Caroline has a distinguished background in providing counsel on an extensive range of complex legal matters, both domestically and internationally. Her proven expertise in navigating some of the most challenging issues impacting global organizations will be a tremendous asset as we execute on the strategic priorities of General Insurance, position the company for future growth, and strive to better serve our clients.”

Ms. Fato commented: “Caroline is an outstanding legal talent, with unique experience across a wide range of issues. Her impressive career in the public and private sectors will be a valuable addition to our world-class legal department, and we look forward to welcoming her to AIG.”

Ms. Krass said: “I am excited to be joining Peter and Lucy and the rest of the dynamic leadership team that is being formed at AIG, particularly in General Insurance. Insurance plays a critical role across the globe helping to mitigate and respond to risk, and I look forward to building upon my experience to help position AIG for long-term success at this pivotal time.”

Ms. Krass joins AIG from Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher where she is currently Chair of the National Security Practice Group. Previously, Ms. Krass was appointed General Counsel of the CIA by President Obama and served as the agency’s Chief Legal Officer and principal legal advisor to the CIA Director from 2014 to 2017. Prior to her role at the CIA, Ms. Krass was Acting Assistant Attorney General, and before that, Principal Deputy Assistant Attorney General, in the Office of Legal Counsel in the Department of Justice. From 2009 to 2010, she served as Special Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs and Deputy Legal Adviser to the National Security Council. She also served as a senior national security lawyer in the George W. Bush Administration, including as a prosecutor in the U.S. Attorney’s Office for the District of Columbia. Earlier in her career, Ms. Krass worked as an advisor to the General Counsel of the Treasury Department and as an attorney at the State Department.

Ms. Krass currently serves as a member of the ABA Standing Committee on Law and National Security, as a member of the Advisory Board of the Georgetown Law Cybersecurity Law Institute, and as an advisor to two elements of the U.S. Intelligence Community. Ms. Krass has been awarded numerous honors for her exceptional contributions to national security while in government. She graduated Phi Beta Kappa from Stanford University with a B.A. in International Relations, and she received her J.D. from Yale Law School.
